

RAYMOND E. STRUNK NAMED BUCKS CO. FIRE MARSHAL

Quakertown Fireman To Fill Out Unexpired Term of William L. Stackhouse

MEETING AT NEW HOPE

Stackhouse Lauded For His Capable Work and Is To Be Given Testimonial

NEW HOPE, Dec. 14.—Raymond E. Strunk, Quakertown fireman, was appointed Saturday night by the Bucks County Firemen's Association, to fill the unexpired term of William L. Stackhouse as Bucks County Fire Marshal. Mr. Stackhouse's term expires in June.

Upon suggestion of President Groome and three trustees, the appointment of Mr. Strunk was made.

Mr. Strunk, who was assistant chief of Quakertown Fire Company for seven years, and served as chief for six years, has been a member of the association for the past 17 years.

Mr. Strunk, who is 37 years old, resides at 236 East Broad street, Quakertown, and his telephone number is Quakertown 3533. When the well-known North Penn fire chief's name was suggested by President Groome as a potential successor, he was given a rousing ovation by his fellow firemen. Mr. Stackhouse tendered his resignation at the meeting Saturday night, because he said he finds the duties as Sheriff of Bucks county beginning January 1, 1938, and those of Fire Marshal incompatible.

With regret, President James E. Groome, of Yardley, who presided at the meeting, representing the attendance of 25 of the county's volunteer companies, accepted the resignation of Fire Marshal Stackhouse, who has served the county in that office for seventeen and one-half years.

Mr. Stackhouse, who was elected Sheriff by an overwhelming Republican majority in the November election, not only has the distinction of being most capable but also one of the greatly admired and respected officials of the county firemen's association. Indicative of the high favor and splendid co-operation he commanded as Fire Marshal is the fact that in 17 and one-half years he never had any opposition for his office.

Enviably also is his attendance record when it was learned that in 17½ years, the former County Fire Marshal never missed a meeting of the association which means a perfect attendance record of four meetings annually for nearly 20 years.

President Groome named Moses Coyle, chairman; Thomas B. Stockham, Charles Urban, Robert Landis and Raymond Strunk, as members of a committee to make plans for a testimonial to honor the incomparable services of Mr. Stackhouse while in duty.

Speaking of the fine work done by former Fire Marshal Stackhouse, Assemblyman Thomas B. Stockham said this association is honored by having one of its members elevated to the office of Sheriff of Bucks county because of the fine performance of his duties which ultimately led and fitted him to a constitutionally authoritative office in this county. "It is much to our loss, but I am proud to say to the gain of the county," said Assemblyman Stockham.

President Groome, who naturally worked shoulder to shoulder with Mr. Stackhouse for the past 17 and one-half years to make Bucks county's firemen proud of their responsibilities and the citizenry proud of their volunteer firemen, paid him a touching significant tribute.

It was voted to send resolutions to District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn, who retires from office January 1st, expressing the appreciation of the firemen for his fine co-operation. Harry Hughes, Cornwells Heights, and Winfield Cox, Morrisville, were named as a committee.

Submitting his report, Fire Marshal Stackhouse stated the loss for three months in Bucks county was $49,500, which he characterized as low. There were 38 fires, including five barns and two houses.

Dog Pets Still Hold Paris Popularity Lead

PARIS.—(INS).—Per capita Paris has more dogs than any other capital in the world.

The latest census shows there are 63,446 of them of every color, breed, shape and build in which dogs can be found. For a city the size of Paris there is a dog for nearly every 44 persons.

And even this is a drop under the census taken in 1932. At that time there were 6,932 more dogs but during the interim 6,754 wound up in the pound. Of this number 5,779 were able to get out alive because of some kind sympathizer or because of release for experimental purposes.

It is the plan of the group on vocational guidance to work with boys in schools and colleges who are planning their life work and give them advice on courses, etc.

The vocational tours group plans to take some of the members of the senior class or even the junior class of the Morrisville, Falls and Lower Makefield schools to work with them at their various places of business.

The work of the youth counseling committee is to handle problem cases possibly along with judges of the county courts.

District Deputy Caleb Cope, of Morrisville, attended the meeting of the Bucks-Montgomery District, American Legion Posts at Norristown when announcements were made on the membership contests. It was reported that the Ninth District, which includes Bucks and Montgomery Counties, won first place in the State and Yardley Post won first place in the district. Yardley, which was represented at the meeting by Commander Johnson Miller and Alex Neely, adjutant, and 13 other members, increased its membership 200 percent over last year. A gavel bell was presented to the post.

Encompassing the whole history of 150 years' economic change in the city and country, the old place is to be razed by the Pitalin Corporation on December 21st, and a development begun on its site.

HOLIDAY ENTERTAINING IS AIDED BY MERCHANTS

Family Always Endeavors To "Put the Best Foot Forward"

DECK UP THE HOUSE

By Xmas Gift Seeker

With holiday entertaining in the offing, the family desires to "put the best foot forward" as it were, and show the home in its very nicest holiday garb.

Decorations will be used in profusion—greens, flowers, the Christmas tree, colorful lights, and many other things that will enhance the beauty of the home.

But one suggestion comes from Weller's Paint and Wall-paper Store, Mill street, a suggestion that should be heeded before the decorating commences. This suggestion is to refurbish the home. A new coat of paint or paper will work wonders on the shabby room, or perhaps the woodwork needs attention. For any of these things to make the home look more attractive for the holiday, Weller's have many suggestions in color, design, etc.

A delight to the eye is a console set which J. S. Lynn is displaying in the window of his Mill street establishment. This set finished in silver and black is a twin-candle set, the two candlesticks being set on a crossbar which rests on a sturdy base. The round vase is just a nice height, and one can visualize red and green candles in this set on either side of a bouquet of red poinsettias for the holiday season.

And speaking of poinsettias which also call to mind other Christmas decorations of wreaths, holly, mistletoe, laurel, etc., the name of Bristol Flower Growers, Pond street, comes to the fore. This firm always has a choice selection of decorative items for the dinner table, for the windows, the mantle above the fireplace, or in fact for any place one chooses to decorate with the home.

A coffee-table! Just the thing for the newly-weds, or for those married a long time if they have not already availed themselves of such. There is an array of such at the establishment of Factors-to-You, Mill street. Whether your choice runs to round, oval or rectangular coffee tables, Factors-to-You has it. Some of these have removable trays, and you will find many uses for the under shelves. If the choice is for walnut, that can be found; and if mahogany finish, this store can supply it.

Fogarty Brothers, located at Bristol Pike and Hillcrest avenue, Croydon, are ready to aid all who plan long motor jaunts for the holiday season.

"Equip your car for winter driving, with one of our several types of antifreezes," is the advice given by this firm. Whether the trip be to the home of relatives or friends at distant points, or a vacation jaunt taken at the Yuletide season, the motorist will be more than thankful to be freed from worry of the car freezing. Fogarty Brothers are willing and ready to give advice in this particular line.

SWINDLE BURLINGTON WOMAN OUT OF $90

Promised Cure for Rheumatism; Took Money From Trusting "Patient"

STILL HAS RHEUMATISM

BURLINGTON, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Grace Placence still has her rheumatism, but her $90 is missing.

The elderly lady, who makes her home with a daughter, Mrs. Mollie Comegno, of 306 Jones avenue, Burlington, is the latest victim of a clever faker, who may be the same one who has made other visits to Burlington county in the past few years.

According to the report made to Captain George Bowley, a strange woman came to her home Friday, December 3, while no one was at home except her mother, Mrs. Placence.

The woman promised a sure cure for rheumatism and told Mrs. Placence it would be necessary to have several large bills to work the cure.

Mrs. Placence went upstairs and brought down $90 in currency and handed the money to her visitor. The woman placed a handkerchief over the money and uttered some "charmed" words, after which she handed the handkerchief back and told her victim not to unroll the handkerchief until the following week and her rheumatism would be cured.

When the time had elapsed Mrs. Placence looked for her money in the handkerchief and found only a few pieces of paper.

It was not until then that Mrs. Comegno learned what had happened and reported to police.

Captain Bowley has made an investigation of the case. He asks anyone who may have seen the woman to get in touch with him.

The woman was described as being about 5 feet, 3 inches, tall, of dark complexion, with black hair and black eyes, with long lashes. She was wearing a sealskin coat, with brown collar and cuffs, a blue hat and blue dress, with blue glass buttons down the front, and black shoes.

"Christmas Eve" Program Is Presented By Pupils

The sixth grade of Harriman school, Miss Evans' room, presented a program today entitled "Christmas Eve."

The scene was a living room on Christmas Eve. Santa Claus played by Harold Drumm, had just finished trimming the tree and arranging the dolls. The dolls which he wound first were Carolyn Nocito, Jean Reiser, Margaret Pavlek, Elma Kershaw, Margaret Hibbs, Susie Mosko, Leona Naylor, Irene Mama and Clara Kolshak. They executed a dance called the Norwegian Mountain March. The dolls continued to be wound up, and the audience saw and heard the following:

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1937, by The Baltimore Sun)

The Hopkins Conversion

NOT the least interesting of recent developments in Washington is the alteration in his general attitude on economic issues of Mr. Harry Hopkins, head of the WPA and the greatest spender of Federal money in all history. It is conservatively estimated that in the last four years more than eight of the sixteen billion dollars which the New Deal has expended has been passed out by Mr. Hopkins. And he is still spending for work relief upward of one and a half billions a year.

BUT HIS point of view has changed somewhat in the last twelve months. There was a time when Mr. Hopkins was one of the most ferocious of all the Administration denouncers. It was he who preached the doctrine to his aides that "this is a fight between the Haves and the Have-Nots and the sooner you find it out the better."

It was Mr. Hopkins, too, who, when Mr. Upton Sinclair ran for Governor in California, clapped him to his bosom with the glad shout of "He is one of us," or words to that effect. In brief, Mr. Hopkins has done quite a little to stir up class feeling in the country. And in the first Roosevelt term he was regarded as one of the most ardent of the More Abundant Life advocates, far over on the radical side.

CLOSE SEWING PROJECT; MAY RESUME SHORTLY

Approval Is Expected From Washington Within the Near Future

AT PEAK EMPLOYED 80

Eighty women employed on the local WPA sewing project, No. 11513, which operates in the Beaver street fire station, have been notified of a temporary lay-off pending reworking of the project. The last six of the group concluded activities yesterday, six others were laid off about two weeks ago, with the majority finishing work on this project on the 15th of November.

Approximately four weeks ago, it is stated by Miss Frances McFadden, project head, approval was asked of another eight month schedule for the local project. When approval will be forthcoming is not definitely known.

The 80 women employed operated in two shifts of six hours each, from seven a. m. to one p. m., and from one to seven p. m. The work-week was for a 30-hour period.

The project was started here on February 10, 1936, with Mrs. Catherine Graham at its head. She was succeeded last October by Miss McFadden. Bristol's project is under the jurisdiction of the Philadelphia WPA offices, located at 6816 Market street, Philadelphia, with Mrs. Ethel Wolf as supervisor of Women's and Professional Projects.

Bristol borough council has for the past several months been responsible for the rental for the building, and light, heat and power for the same.

Edward S. Landreth To Head Campaign Committee

Secondly, the committee will seek co-operation in the task of strengthening the facilities of the various schools and departments of the University and also the library facilities, scientific laboratories and other physical equipment essential to distinguished achievement in scholarship and research.

Finally, the Bristol District Committee, in conjunction with other groups throughout the world, will be called upon to assist in planning and conducting a series of academic events that will feature the University's 200th anniversary in 1940.

ONE CAUSE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

By "The Stroller"

A man today told me of his experiences while shopping with his wife. The wife was hunting linen towels. She entered a store and made known her desires. Three samples were exhibited, one from Ireland, one from the Soviet Union, and the third from Czechoslovakia. Not a single sample stamped "Made in America."

The husband of the purchaser became incensed and rightly so. He made known his resentment to the store.

If more folks were like this man there would be less unemployment in America.

The last meeting of Bristol Borough Council, as it is now constituted, was held last night and as such concluded the business of the borough for the year 1937. The new council will convene January 3rd for organization. Members of the present council whose terms of office expire with the end of the year are Jacob C. Schmidt, Sr., Roy F. Fry, Richard Winslow and John S. Williams.

Mr. Schmidt has represented the third ward since 1924, having been appointed at that time for the unexpired term of Clarence G. Young. For two years Mr. Schmidt served as president of the borough legislative body. Mr. Fry, fifth ward, entered council in 1921, Mr. Winslow, fifth ward, in 1925, and Mr. Williams, first ward, in 1929. Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Williams were not candidates for re-election, while Mr. Fry and Mr. Winslow were defeated.

The routine business affairs of the borough was the only business before council last night.

Police committee reported nine arrests during the month. Two were held for court, five discharged, and two committed to the Bucks County prison. One hundred and thirty-two lodgers were given shelter. Thirteen are lights, 28 incandescent and two bridge lights were reported out during the month. Four doors of business places were found unlocked.

Councilman Winslow reported progress on the drafting of a new plumbing code.

Requests were received to hang signs in front of 515 Bath street and also at 507 Bath street. Referred to street and highway committee with power to act.

Warner J. Steel, Inc., asked council for permission to hang a three-inch steam pipe over Lafayette street. The pipe will be suspended 18 feet high on a steel cable and will connect two buildings of the Steel mills. It will carry steam for heating purposes. Request referred to street and highway committee with power to act.

The sewing project reported distribution of garments to the following: Red Cross, 112; Borough Council, 479; St. Francis Industrial School, 480; Catholic Daughters of America, 80. All of the material used for the garments for St. Francis Industrial School was purchased by that institution and the Catholic Daughters of America purchased the material for garments which they distributed.

It was reported that the sewing project was discontinued yesterday and moneys contributed by co-sponsors were left in the hands of the secretary of council until the project is resumed. Burgess Anderson asked that the building rented by council and occupied by the sewing project be carefully checked so as to prevent freezing and any other damage that might result due to its vacancy.

A WORM WILL TURN

Pictures have come to play a more and more important part in the telling of news during the last few years. There was a time, before the intensive development of modern photography and photo engraving, when the pages of newspapers were solid masses of type matter with the exception of an occasional picture or cartoon. A newspaper today would present to its readers a dull face indeed if it appeared unadorned by plenty of camera work.

The news photographer is one of the busiest bees in the press hive. He is omnipresent, first in the scene, pointing his magic box at the X which marks the spot. Usually he is welcomed but not always.

Sometimes the camera chap gives his subjects a pain. The reader and looker enjoy the picture but the subject does not, says Winston Churchill in a letter to the London Times in which the British statesman pleads for more privacy for banquet guests especially, it is presumed, when the diner is busy with his soup and so unable to sleek his hair or gaze with dignity into the tell-tale lens.

Another letter in the Thunderer is from Lord Southwood who reminds that aversion to the camera has been manifest for a long time. At an International Railway Congress the Prince of Wales, who became King Edward VIII, presided. At one moment in the proceedings the heir to the throne called one of his aides and said:

"There is a young man up in the gallery with a photographic apparatus. Go and turn him out. Tell him I will not be photographed while I am blowing my nose."

POWER SOURCES

Too much stress cannot be laid on the vital importance of the government's reforestation enterprises. Not only for their value as erosion preventives are forests to be prized, wood is one of our more precious natural resources.

The chemist eyes the wood supply jealously because of the many complex compounds found in it; wood remains one of the necessary materials in building and industry; and in this modern world it may come as a surprise to know that an eighth of the power used today by mankind is from firewood, most primitive of fuels.

Coal is responsible for slightly more than half of the world's power supply, with 16 per cent from oil and about 3 per cent each from lignite and gas.

Coal and oil are irreplaceable resources, but there is cause for satisfaction in the better economy of these fuels achieved by industry in the increased efficiency of their use, and there is assurance of decline in consumption of coal especially.

Experts foresee that the protection of coal and oil deposits will be perfected when these materials cease to be squandered and are used only in the form of residual products after more or less extensive chemical changes. The burning of raw coal may some day be looked upon as a crime.

The swirl of motor traffic is comparative safety, it was discovered by London pedestrians who fled into the streets to escape a horse wildly driven down Rotten Row.

TULLYTOWN

At the meeting of the Tullytown Fire Company to be held in the fire house Tuesday evening the members will nominate officers for the coming year. All members are urged to be present at this meeting. Other items of interest will be brought before the meeting.

INCREASE LIFE SPAN WITH FOOD THAT IS RICH IN VITAMIN C

By Edna Stephany

(Home Economics Representative)
Dr. H. C. Sherman, a leading nutrition authority, has found from experiments with animals that lack a vitamin G brings on the characteristics of old age. Besides old age, too little of this vitamin in the diet may cause digestive disturbances, nervousness, and lessened vitality of the body. An unhealthy condition of the skin may develop and resistance to infectious diseases may be lowered because of a lack of vitamin G.

For best health, the adult needs 500 to 600 units daily.

Beef liver, in an average serving of three ounces, gives 770 units of vitamin G. Beef or veal kidney gives 450 units in a two ounce serving. Among the leafy vegetables, beet greens, broccoli, and spinach in 3-ounce servings supply approximately 170 units each.

Lean meats give only 100 units while dairy products supply 60 units. Dried fruits and vegetables give about 75 units. Most other vegetables and fruits vary from 70 units in cauliflower to 20 units in one-third cup of orange juice.

Select your food abundantly from these foods to ward off old age and increase your life span.

rather close contact with him, he is not regarded as radical at all. On the contrary, it is reported by those who know best the inside gossip of the palace that Mr. Hopkins' weight is now over on the conservative side. He, with Mr. Kennedy, combats the anti-capitalist counselors of the President, and he was reported recently as having joined with Mr. B. M. Baruch in urging upon Vice-President Garner not only budget balancing but tax revision along the lines advocated by such anti-New Dealers as Senator Carter Glass and Mr. Lewis W. Douglas. It was Mr. Hopkins who, at one of the confidential White House conferences, we are told by the well-informed Mr. Krock, of the New York Times, opposed the two Presidential counselors who held that our present system is not worth saving.

and wanted the President to "let her slide," Mr. Hopkins, it is reported, strongly opposed this notion and Mr. Roosevelt agreed with him.

ASIDE from the astonishing fact that the President of the United States should have among those with whom he confidentially advises on national affairs men who openly advise him to scrap the American system, and should debate that subject with them—aside from that, the position taken by Mr. Hopkins is significant. Perhaps an injustice has been done him, but the general feeling has been that he belonged with the extreme left-wing group, for whose company the President has shown such decided preference. Certainly his utterances and comments have lent substance to that idea. But he is no longer classified in that way. The new New Dealers, who once regarded him as one of them, are now somewhat caustic in their comments upon the present views of the WPA director and the reasons.

IT WOULD be unfair to imply that because Mr. Hopkins now advocates capitalism and is anxious to balance the budget and revise taxes which cripple industry, that his enthusiasm for Mr. Roosevelt is lessened or that he is not still a tremendously devoted friend and follower. As a matter of fact, what he advocates now is also being advocated by the President. Mr. Hopkins is not out of line with his Chief; he distinctly is in line. The interesting thing is that he should seem even more strongly for these things than the President. It is interesting because it does not harmonize with what seemed his former feeling, but it none the less is a tribute to his intelligence.

THE TRUTH seems to be that to Mr. Hopkins has come a deeper realization that the great problem of unemployment with which he wrestles so expensively can only be solved by enabling business to prosper. Hence, instead, as he was once disposed to do, of condemning industry for not providing more jobs, despite Administration hostility and handicaps, he is now anxious to relieve it of crippling burdens so that it can provide the jobs. Whether Mr. Hopkins' conversion has been brought about by contact with conservative friends, or whether he has recently acquired an economic education, or whether it is due solely to his own common sense, makes little difference. It is an encouraging sign.

Weekly Letter to Home-Makers

A Letter Written by Miss Edna M. Ferguson to Home-Makers will appear in each Tuesday's issue of The Bristol Courier. Through this medium Miss Ferguson will give many helpful hints to home-makers.

'Twas the day after Christmas and all through the store, trooped people returning gifts galore.

"Exchange day." That's the day after Christmas in the shops, when all the tinsel and glitter and greeting split seem to have melted away.

Yes, many a costly gift is returned, or put on a shelf, because it represents more money than thought from the giver. Yet a little time and ingenuity will solve many a gift problem, particularly when your problem-friend is one of those persons "who seem to have everything."

Of course, I am getting around to the suggestion of the individual gift of some real home goodies—the kind that money can't buy—the kind that are seized on eagerly. You can be sure that a box of cookies won't be returned because they aren't the right size. And the same goes for jam, marmalade, canned fruit and assorted candies.

Your direct-from-home gift will have double appeal if it is attractively wrapped. Bright cellophane papers are doing more than ever before to create atmosphere and they fairly invite the creative artist to produce a distinctive, original package. Most of the shops which carry these gay wrappings have a booklet, or a clever demonstrator, ready to suggest fresh color schemes and possibilities for making everything from pom-poms to a crinkly blue green wave effect for bon voyage packages.

An amusing idea for a surprise type of package is the "Snapper," which can be wrapped so that it is identical with the snappers used at parties. It is adaptable to any small gifts, to rolls of cookies, jars of marmalade and for such home-made gifts as sturdy kitchen holders, wash cloths, candles or towels.

A new glued Scotch tape is useful in fastening this snapper package securely. Incidentally this tape may be used with decorative effect on other packages, using color band strips in different lengths to design a tree, or to make bands to simulate a drum on a round package. Be generous with the bright cellophane paper at the ends of your snapper, crinkling or frilling it out and tying it with ribbon.

Try such color combinations as du-bonnet and amber, wrapping first in amber, covering with violet paper and then fastening securely with the bright Scotch tape. Green and orchid packages are effective. Icy, decorative strands may be bought in matching or contrasting colors, which are tied on the package to form a pom-pom. There is also a crinkled cellophane which gives an icy, glistening effect. Best effects are produced by cutting the size sheet required with a razor blade, after measuring the dimensions carefully with a ruler.

Set down a list of your friends who would appreciate some goodies; plan the making so that it will not be a burden, or a last minute rush, and then give another evening, or part of a day to the wrapping. If you are fortunate enough to have a shelf of canned goods, you can supply some of the stock from there. Otherwise, it is a good time to make orange, or orange and grapefruit marmalade; some glasses of clear cranberry jelly would be welcome in the holiday rush, and quinces are still available in many shops for quince honey.

A supply of fondant may be varied to produce almost an endless variety of candies. Even persons who are well supplied with sweets around the holiday time value a box of home-made candies, or stuffed dates and nuts.

The cook who is expert at making delicious cookies has her gift problem solved, for where is the person who can resist fruit cookies, nut cookies, stuffed cookies, or the crispy butterscotch cookies that can be whisked so easily from the icebox for a quick baking after they have been chilled. Recipes for some of these holiday suggestions will be given.

Another idea is a real, home-made fruit cake, which may be packed so that it is a real surprise. Some sprays of holly, or branches of pine fastened outside the gift box, or placed inside, will add to the effect.

Drop the notion that home-made foods are humble gifts, to be offered apologetically. If you are in any doubt, just present anything from marmalade to a mince pie and see what real gratitude you will reap. Which prompts one more idea. One woman gives jars of home-made mincemeat to her friends, making an enormous batch each year from a favorite family recipe.

Your own ingenuity will suggest other Christmas bounty, or perhaps you will pack an assorted package. But do your holiday making and baking now and avoid that last-minute scramble.

Bristol Misses Will Take Part In Mystery

Plains, N. J.; Miss Katherine Wilson, Philadelphia; Miss Presley Ann Rhodes, Gaylordsville, Conn.; Miss Barbara Mayer, Erie; Miss Josephine Peters, Woodbury, N. J., and Miss Priscilla Ireland, Long Branch, N. J. Since St. Mary's Hall was founded,

100 years ago, there has been a great variety of Christmas observances. At a time when the beautiful customs of Merrie England were just beginning to be celebrated in America, when the church was moving with cautious hesitation and when outside its precincts the Feast of the Nativity had little religious and scant domestic recognition, Bishop George W. Doane struck out boldly at St. Mary's. There many girls heard for the first time the beautiful carols and saw the candles, evergreens and holly now so closely associated with the season.

In 1930 this observance was given definite form, the Christmas Mystery, reviving the spirit of the dramatic interpretations of the events in the life of our Lord which were for centuries presented in the Church. The story of the Nativity is the favorite and in St. Mary's Hall Chapel its presentation in dramatic form has become an annual custom.

Characters are taken from year to year by the same girls until they are graduated. There are four scenes and the atmosphere for each is created by the singing of the appropriate carol in which the entire school and congregation join.

The chance is the stage and before the curtains are drawn apart for each episode, the chapel is darkened and the Rev. John Talbot Ward, the chaplain, reads the story from the Gospels. The chapel is hung with laurel and a large evergreen star. By the effective use of colored lights; by the simple and moving reading and acting and by the voices raised in carol singing the congregation is transported for an hour to the time of that great moment in history.

Miss Isabelle Brogan, New York City, will appear as the Virgin Mary. Miss Keith-Anne Krantz, of Garden City, L. I., will appear as Joseph, and Miss Mercer Tomlinson, of Havre de Grace, Md., as Gabriel. The other members of the cast include:

Miss Caroline Miller, New York City, Miss Marjorie Carter, Greenwich, Conn., and Miss Catherine Tilton, Trenton, N. J., the Three Kings; Miss Welles, of Trenton, Miss Nancy Zvor, Montclair, Miss Virginia Willis, Mount Holly, and Miss Shirley Baum, New York City, the Shepherds.

The Christmas Mystery will last one hour. The dinner and program which are to follow in the school's dining hall are just for the students. There will be a traditional Christmas feast, eaten in the glow of candle light and the light from the huge fire place. Following the dinner, the girls will gather about the fire place to listen to a reading of Dickens' Christmas Carol by the Rt. Rev. Wallace J. Gardner, Bishop of New Jersey and the Very Rev. Frederic M. Adams, dean of Trinity Cathedral, Trenton, N. J.

Christmas holidays at St. Mary's begin Saturday, December 13 and last until January 2.

ORGANIZE LEAGUE IN LOWER BUCKS TO SUPERVISE SPORTS FOR GIRL STUDENTS

By Louis Tomlinson

When the Lower Bucks County coaches met in their annual meeting at Langhorne last week, the girls' coaches of Lower Bucks County schools met in another section of the high school at the same time.

The result of that meeting was the organization of a Lower Bucks County League in all sports for girls. And thus for the first time in the history of girls' sports in this section, they will have a governing body. They will meet at the same time the boys' coaches meet—in April, October and December—and will follow as closely as possible the schedules, rules and regulations which govern the boys' sports. It is also believed that in this respect they will also select "All-Star" teams in the various sports at the close of the season.

The girls have already organized a Lower Bucks County Basketball League which will go hand-in-glove with the boys' circuit. The teams represented in the court league include Bensalem, Bristol, Buckingham, Morrisville and Southampton. Other leagues will include a baseball circuit, track conference, and hockey loop. To the latter loop, Bristol may return once more to its wars next Fall following a 5-year lapse in which girls' field hockey was disbanded at Bristol.

The girls have already been organized to some extent in field hockey which title was won this year by Buckingham. They have also scheduled basketball games and track meets but these were scheduled by individual schools—not the league. In fact the basketball title scheduled among these schools were listed as preliminary frays to the varsity game with the boys. However, such titles were scheduled as other sports, more or less on a "hit-and-miss" basis. For example the visiting teams never were sure whether they were to play two or three court basketball. If the type of game the home team plays differs from that which the visitors play, the latter team is put at a disadvantage which often results in a handicap for the visitors.

Now, under the league, all teams except Bensalem will use two courts in league games while the Owlets will play with three courts. Also the league sanctioned a trophy for the winner of the 1938 basketball campaign which will be the first girl trophy to be awarded under the newly organized circuit. A committee was selected to draw up a constitution somewhat on the form of the present league constitution as that which governs the boys' loop. This will be submitted for approval by the league next week at which time it will be revised where needed and ratified. At the same time a list of officials for league work will also be submitted and approved. Ideas, suggestions, and other business for the betterment of the organization is also on the schedule for the meeting next week.

Officers elected for the 1937-38 term were: President, Helen Smith, Bensalem; vice-president, Margaret Pope, Bristol; secretary-treasurer, Matrona Walck, Buckingham.

Each team will play each league opponent twice—once home and once away. This will compile an 8-game schedule in league composition.

Coach "Peg" Pope's Bristol High school will have the honor of opening the league campaign when they encounter the loop's newcomers, Buckingham High, at Bristol on Tuesday, January 4. Buckingham has already made a name for itself in the girls' ranks by capturing the Lower Bucks hockey title this year. The League season closes on Tuesday, February 22, Washington's Birthday, with Buckingham playing at Morrisville and Bensalem at Southampton.

Girls' Lower Bucks County Basketball Schedule for 1938:

DOYLESTOWN XI TO BE ENTERTAINED BY CLUB

Kiwanians Will Be Hosts At Delightful Dinner This Evening

GEO. LITTLE TO SPEAK

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 14.—The Kiwanis Club of Doylestown will celebrate "Football Night" here this evening, at the Doylestown Inn, when the Doylestown High football team of the Bux-Mont Conference, will be the guests of the club members. The entire affair has been planned by Coach Samuel B. Samuels of National Farm School, chairman of the program committee.

The banquet speaker will be George Little, former coach at the University of Wisconsin and now director of athletics at Rutgers University. Coach Little preceded Coaches "Doc" Spear and Harry Stuldreher. Little will be accompanied by George VanderNoot, a former Farm School gridiron star and captain of last year's Rutgers University varsity team and now freshman coach at Rutgers.

Secretary Russ Thomas, reporting for Kiwanian Bill Tell, chairman of the Christmas tree committee, announced the appointment of the following committee members who will secure the community tree this year: Claude Myers, chairman; William Lynch, George R. Leatter, Russell B. Gulick, D. Ralph Stone, Walter Bachmann and Rotarian W. Carlisle Hobensack. The tree will be delivered to Doylestown either Saturday or Sunday, December 17 or 18.

Members of the collection committee for funds for the tree include Francis Ellsworth, chairman; D. Ralph Stone, Russ Thomas and Charles Rowe. The candy and entertainment committee for the Christmas celebration to be held on Friday night, December 21, includes Charles Mammounis and Francis Ellsworth.

$239,000 and insurance on the property amounted to $110,000. The largest fires during the three months took place in Doylestown or its vicinity, including the destruction of the barn at the County Home, and the Nyece Planing Mill fire. Fire Marshal Stackhouse, who stated he thought the newspaper account of the $40,000 loss at the County Home "as far too high," said three fires were mainly responsible for the present loss. With the exception of the County Home barn fire, the Nyece Planing Mill fire, and the destruction of 11 stables at the Doylestown Fair Grounds, the loss for the three month period would have been almost negligible.

Dr. R. C. Magill, Burgess of New Hope, welcomed the firemen, and the names of James Corrigan, Sr., Jordan Schaeffer, Joseph McGowan, William and John Hamilton, all of whom have served as members of the New Hope

Fire Company for a period ranging from 50 to 62 years, were presented in recognition of their community service.

According to a report of the trustees, the gross assets of the association are $395,91. Of this amount, $174.14 is in the Yardley Bank, and four Government bonds represent an investment of $3000. The sum of $221.77 is located in the New Hope Bank.

The March meeting will be held in Langhorne.

Harry Hughes, of Cornwells, presented a report of the State convention held in Philadelphia.

A delegation of Burlington county, N. J., firemen was welcomed.

In the absence of the chaplain, the Rev. Arthur F. Gibson, of Eddington, Episcopal rector, Assemblyman Thomas B. Stockham offered the invocation. The Rev. Gibson, who arrived before the meeting adjourned, pronounced the benediction.

Refreshments were served in the New Hope Fire Company's fire house by members of the ladies' auxiliary.

Council Meets In Final Session of Year Now Ending

Councilman Pfeiffer offered a resolution authorizing the refunding to the Delaware River Realty Company of $3321.85 for water mains laid in the streets of the development of that company, in accordance with agreement entered into between the borough and the company in 1924. The refunding of the money was unanimously agreed to by council. The borough now takes over the water mains.

Dr. H. Doyle Webb was renamed as a member of the Board of Health for a term of five years.

Howard I. James, borough solicitor, presented the contract and the form of bond in connection with the construction and erection of the new water tower. Secretary William J. Lefferts read the contract and also the form of the bond to council, and both were approved and the proper officers of the borough were authorized to affix their signatures.

Councilmen absent were Williams, Schmidt, Fallon, Roche and Spencer.
